Summary

American Financial operates in specialty insurance lines leveraging a focused niche strategy. Consistent price increases in property and casualty business should favor results. It is actively involved in startups, small-to-medium-sized acquisitions, product launches and and is prudently investing in businesses. Better industry fundamentals, a high renewal ratio and a favorable combined ratio should drive growth. New business opportunities, increased exposures and a good renewal rate environment in the P&C group bode well. A solid capital position enables it to deploy capital effectively via share repurchases and dividend. Shares of American Financial have underperformed the industry over the past year. However, exposure to weather-related calamities induces earnings volatility, while high expenses tend to weigh on margin.

Reasons To Buy:

▲ Sturdy Growth Profile: AFG operates in specialty insurance lines—such as commercial auto, agribusiness, equine, annuities, and others—leveraging a focused niche strategy. This expertise enables accurate risk pricing and healthy margins, while the specialization limits competition, reinforces underwriting discipline and drives stable profitability throughout market cycles. This in turn also helps AFG continue to achieve year-over-year premium growth in selected businesses as a result of a combination of new business opportunities, a good renewal rate environment, and increased exposures. For 2025, the company expects net written premiums to grow.

▲ Consistent Price Increase in Property and Casualty Business: It is evident that the industry is going through a hard market cycle that started in 2018. With inflation staying above 2% and an increase in catastrophe losses due to climate change, the hard market is here to stay. A hard market leads to higher pricing, which coupled with prudent underwriting standards, should continue to drive premiums higher and ensure sustained profitability. It intends to maintain satisfactory rates in P&C renewal pricing going forward. Average renewal pricing across the Property and Casualty Group was up approximately 5% in the third quarter of 2025, both including and excluding workers' comp. AFG reported overall renewal rate increases for 37 consecutive quarters. The company expects to achieve overall renewal rate increases in excess of prospective loss ratio trends to meet or exceed the targeted returns.

▲ Investment Income: P&C insurers prefer fixed-income investments, such as bonds, because they offer predictable returns that can be used in claims payment, and American Financial is no exception. P&C net investment income is continued to be driven by higher interest rates and higher average balances of invested assets. In the current interest rate environment, the insurer invested in fixed maturity securities at yields of approximately 5.25% during the third quarter of 2025.

▲ Strong Capital Management: American Financial has traditionally maintained moderate adjusted financial leverage around 20%, with good cash flow and interest coverage ratio. AFG has a strong capital position and expects its operations to continue to generate significant excess capital throughout the remainder of 2025, which provides ample opportunity for acquisitions, special dividends or share repurchases. American Financial exited third quarter of 2025 with total cash and investments of $16.7 billion, which increased 5.7% from the 2024-end level. It scores strongly with credit rating agencies. The annualized return on equity came in at 18.2% for the third quarter, which expanded 300 bps year over year. Also, in each of the last 19 years, the company has successfully increased its dividends. Dividend payments and share repurchases totaled $6.9 billion over the last five years. The quarterly dividend increased 10% beginning in October of 2025. American Financial declared a special cash dividend of $2.00 per share in the third quarter. The aggregate amount of this special dividend will be approximately $167 million. The robust operating profitability at the P&C segment, a stellar investment performance and effective capital management support effective shareholders return.

American Financial, a niche player in the P&C markets, will benefit from the strategic acquisitions and improved pricing. Improving industry fundamentals will drive overall growth.

Reasons To Sell:

▼ California wildfire: The company's earnings have traditionally been affected by catastrophes. Even drought, which does not otherwise qualify as a catastrophe, had impacted its earnings, given its exposure to the crop business. Catastrophe losses were $23 million in the third quarter of 2025. Irrespective of catastrophe mitigation techniques deployed by it, exposure to weather-related calamities makes its earnings volatile.

AFG maintains comprehensive property catastrophe reinsurance coverage for its property and casualty insurance operations, including a $70 million per occurrence net retention, for losses up to $625 million in the vast majority of circumstances. This coverage consists of a combination of $245 million from traditional reinsurance and $310 million of coverage through a fully collateralized catastrophe bond (effective May 1, 2025 for losses occurring through Dec. 31, 2028).

▼ Rising Expenses: The company has been experiencing an increase in expenses due to higher P&C insurance losses & expenses, annuity, life, accident & health benefits & expenses, interest charges on borrowed money, expenses of managed investment entities and other expenses. These high cost and expenses have been inducing net margin contraction. The company must strive to generate revenue growth at a higher magnitude than that of an increase in expense, else margin could be dented.

▼ Stretched Valuation: Valuation remains stretched at the current level. Looking at the company's price-to-book ratio, which is the best multiple for valuing insurers, investors might not want to pay any further premium. The stock is currently trading at 2.39X, trailing 12-month book value, higher than the industry average of 1.53X.

Exposure to cat losses (specifically its exposure to the crop business) inducing volatility to underwriting results as well as rising expenses pose near-term headwinds.

American Financial Group, Inc. reported third-quarter 2025 net operating earnings per share of $2.69, which beat the Zacks Consensus Estimate by 14.5%. The bottom line increased 16.4% year over year. The increase was due to higher year-over-year underwriting profit and higher net investment income.

Behind the Headlines

Total revenues of $2.2 billion decreased 1.4% year over year. The decline was due to lower P&C insurance net earned premiums. However, the top line beat the Zacks Consensus Estimate by 8.8%. Net investment income climbed 2.5% year over year to $205 million in the quarter under review. The figure was higher than our estimate of $193.2 million and beat the Zacks Consensus Estimate of $191 million. Total cost and expenses decreased 3.6% year over year to $2.1 billion due to lower losses & loss adjustment expenses, and expenses of managed investment entities. The figure was higher than our estimate of $1.9 billion.

Segmental Update

The Specialty P&C Insurance segment generated $2.2 billion in net written premiums, which declined 4% year over year. Average renewal pricing across the entire P&C Group was up around 5% in the reported quarter, both including and excluding workers' compensation businesses. Net written premiums in Property & Transportation Group decreased 9% year over year to $1 billion in the quarter. The figure was higher than our estimate of $939.8 million.

Net written premiums at Specialty Casualty Group decreased 0.3% year over year to $914 million. The figure was higher than our estimate of $904.1 million.

Further, net written premiums at Specialty Financial increased 1% year over year to $287 million. The figure was higher than our estimate of $286.8 million.

The Specialty P&C Insurance segment's underwriting profit increased 19% year over year to $139 million in the quarter. Higher underwriting profit in the Property and Transportation, and Specialty Financial Groups was partially offset by lower underwriting profit in the Specialty Casualty Group. The figure was higher than our estimate of $100.3 million. Pre-tax core operating earnings before income taxes of the P&C Insurance segment of $328 million in the third quarter increased 12.7% year over year.

Catastrophe losses were $23 million in the reported quarter, narrower than the year-ago loss of $90 million. In the Property and Transportation Group, higher year-over-year underwriting profit was primarily due to lower catastrophe losses.

In the Specialty Casualty Group, higher underwriting profit in executive liability business was more than offset by lower year-over-year underwriting profit in some of the social inflation-exposed businesses and, to a lesser extent, our mergers & acquisitions and workers' compensation businesses.

In the Specialty Financial Group, higher year-over-year underwriting profit was primarily due to improved results in the financial institutions business and higher profitability in surety and fidelity businesses. The combined ratio improved 130 basis points (bps) year over year to 93% in the segment. The results benefited from favorable prior-year reserve development.

Financial Update

American Financial exited the third quarter with total cash and investments of $16.7 billion, which increased 5.7% from the 2024-end level. The figure is higher than our estimate of $16.4 billion. The dividend will be paid out on Nov. 26 to shareholders of record at the close of business as of Nov. 17, 2025. The aggregate amount of this special dividend will be approximately $167 million. With this special dividend, AFG has declared $54.00 per share in special dividends since the beginning of 2021. Zacks Stock Rating System

We offer two rating systems that take into account investors' holding horizons: Zacks Rank and Zacks Recommendation. Each provides valuable insights into the future profitability of the stock and can be used separately or in combination with each other depending on your investment style.

Zacks Recommendation

The Zacks Recommendation aims to predict performance over the next 6 to 12 months. The foundation for the quantitatively determined Zacks Recommendation is trends in the company's estimate revisions and earnings outlook. The Zacks Recommendation is broken down into 3 Levels; Outperform, Neutral and Underperform. Unlike many Wall Street firms, we have an excellent balance between the number of Outperform and Neutral recommendations. Our team of 70 analysts are fully versed in the benefits of earnings estimate revisions and how that is harnessed through the Zacks quantitative rating system. But we have given our analysts the ability to override the Zacks Recommendation for the 1200 stocks that they follow. The reason for the analyst over-rides is that there are often factors such as valuation, industry conditions and management effectiveness that a trained investment professional can spot better than a quantitative model.

Zacks Rank

The Zacks Rank is our short-term rating system that is most effective over the one- to three-month holding horizon. The underlying driver for the quantitatively-determined Zacks Rank is the same as the Zacks Recommendation, and reflects trends in earnings estimate revisions.

Zacks Style Scores

The Zacks Style Score is as a complementary indicator to the Zacks rating system, giving investors a way to focus on the highest rated stocks that best fit their own stock picking preferences.

Academic research has proven that stocks with the best Value, Growth and Momentum characteristics outperform the market. The Zacks Style Scores rate stocks on each of these individual styles and assigns a rating of A, B, C, D and F. We also produce the VGM Score (V for Value, G for Growth and M for Momentum), which combines the weighted average of the individual Style Scores into one score. This is perfectly suited for those who want their stocks to have the best scores across the board.

Value Score	B
Growth Score	D
Momentum Score	B
VGM Score	C

As an investor, you want to buy stocks with the highest probability of success. That means buying stocks with a Zacks Recommendation of Outperform, which also has a Style Score of an A or a B.
